Greiner, K. A., W. Born, et al. (2005). "Knowledge and perceptions of colorectal cancer screening among African Americans." J Gen Intern Med 20(11): 977-983.

OBJECTIVE: To explore colorectal cancer (CRC) screening knowledge, attitudes, barriers, and urban African Americans as a prelude to the development of culturally appropriate interventions for this group. DESIGN: Qualitative focus group study with assessment of CRC screening preferences in a community health center serving low-income African Americans. PARTICIPANTS: Fifty-five self-identified African Americans over 40 years of age. MEASUREMENTS AND MAIN RESULTS: Transcripts were analyzed through an iterative coding process with consensus and triangulation on final thematic findings. Six major themes were identified: (1) Hope—a positive attitude toward screening, (2) Mistrust—distrust that the system will take care of patients first, (3) Fear—fear of cancer, the system, and of CRC screening procedures, (4) Fatalism—belief that one's fate is predetermined, (5) Lack of information, and (6) Lack of access to care.

The screenshot shows the EndNote software interface. At the top, there is a menu bar with 'File', 'Edit', 'References', 'Groups', 'Tools', 'Window', and 'Help'. Below the menu bar is a toolbar with various icons. The main window is divided into two panes. The left pane, titled 'My Library', contains a tree view of library categories: 'All References (76)', 'Copied References (31)', 'Unfiled (0)', 'Trash (0)', 'My Groups' (including 'arthritis_yoga (14)'), 'Arthritis' (including 'arthritis_yoga (9)', 'clinical trial (5)', 'review (9)'), 'Online Search' (including 'PubMed (NLM) (0)', 'LISTA (EBSCO) (0)', 'Library of Cong... (0)', 'more...'), 'EndNote Web transfer...', and 'Find Full Text'. The right pane displays a list of references with columns for Author, Year, Title, and Journal. A red arrow points to the 'References' menu item in the top menu bar.
